Pranams,

Diabetes mellitus (DM) is a worldwide public health concern. Despite spectacular advances in the management of Diabetes, patients pose many challenges including preventable complications. Being a multifactorial disease it demands multidimensional approach for its management. Transdisciplinary research and integrated management of diabetes is need of the hour to uncover new insights for the prevention and management of DM. Customized patient centric approach is the corner stone of Integrative Medicine which addresses the whole gamut of physical, emotional, mental, social, spiritual and environmental influences on a person's health.

Samanvaya - 2018, a National Conference on 'Integrative Diabetology - Present Trend in Diabetes Care' is a tenacious effort of Sri Devaraj Urs Academy of Higher Education & Research, Kolar, Karnataka (SDUAHER), to update the recent trends in the field of integrative medicine and its integration with conventional care.
